DEFEAT CO-EDS

University Quintet Is Trailing at End of First Half, but Forges Ahead in Second and Stays There.

The local basketball season closed last night with the roughing out of the nation's sports teams. The university and hillmen were divided 25 to 25 after a hard battle, and the varsity co-eds lost to the sternmores, 28 to 14. The university girls were not dangerous at any stage of the game.

While the officials called frequent fouls in both games nearly all violations were chargeable to keen rivalry and over-anxiety to win, a few being maliciously done. More injuries were assessed in the girls' game than in the boys' clash.

The business college boys led, 13 to 12, at the close of the first period. They played for three minutes, then fired off without either side finding the basket. Then Neher of the college, casted the first goal. When the period was half gone and the university was ahead, Neher started a rally for his team. He shot a field goal, Lappal followed him with three in rapid succession and Neher came back with another, putting the business college to the fore. It stayed there for the half. The university regained its lost ground early in the final half and from then on kept a few jumps ahead.

The attendance was 200.

UNUSUAL MODES OF WARFARE ARE SEEN IN ALSACE

Hard Fighting in January Brings Out Remarkable Devices for Getting at the Enemy.

Associated Press Correspondence.
Berlin, Feb. 25.—Unusual modes of warfare were seen on a mountain by the queer name of Hartmannswiller-Kopf, near Steinbach in Alsace, in January. The top of the mountain forms a plateau, 1,000 feet high, looking down upon a valley to the northward of Muthhausen. In peaceful times it is a favorite resort for the zoologists and botanists of Strasbourg and Freiburg universities.

During the hard fighting which occurred there in January, Alpine riflemen of the French army were in possession of the plateau, which they had fortified with timber and earthworks. When the Germans came to dislodge them, the Alpine riflemen shot at them not only from behind their defenses but from the tree-tops as well. A number of them had clutched themselves in black goat-skins and twigs and had themselves drawn up in baskets to the tops of the massive tree trunks. From this concealment they were able to pick off the advancing Germans with fatal accuracy.

The Germans were at further disadvantage because they were all law-breakers, while the French defenders came from the mountain districts and understood how to take the most advantage of the topography. The Germans, however, succeeded in capturing the saddle of the mountain behind the French and thus cut them off from communication with other mountain tops from which they might receive reinforcements. Having succeeded in this, the Germans spent several weeks holding their position until they could bring up artillery and open thoroughfare for their attack. When this finally began, they had already planned details of their positions so accurately that one of their first artillery shots dropped into the officer's dugout, killing two of the three. The remaining officer was surrounded with his little band of fifteen.

These mid-winter operations were carried on successfully against a number of mountain tops held by the French, notwithstanding the fact that the Germans had but recently been converted from mountaineers to mountain climbers. The mountains were often covered with snow, and the attacking forces did not set a watch made for winter. And after they had cleared out the mountain of the French could not take time to erect log huts and hunker down.

RENEHAN REPLIES TO GOVERNOR'S VETO MESSAGE

Santa Fe, March 12.—Senate Republicans held a caucus this evening in an effort to resurrect the Renahan clay-bank bill, but came to no conclusion. The house majority members also held a caucus and decided to make no effort to pass H. B. 34, the capital clay-bank bill, over the governor's veto. This is the only veto of the session that will be permitted to stick.

Mr. Renahan, however, was permitted to make a reply to the vein expressed on the floor of the house. He did so and said:

"I was amazed yesterday when there was received by the house and read veto message No. 2, concerning H. B. 34, appointing and naming the commissioner of public lands, cession of the capitol building and grounds and the executive mansion and grounds. The language, to me, when considered in the light of the bill itself, can justly be termed and characterized as intemperate if based upon a just and true conception and comprehension of the meaning and significance of the bill itself. The Germans, however, succeeded in capturing the saddle of the mountain behind the French and thus cut them off from communication with other mountain tops from which they might receive reinforcements. Having succeeded in this, the Germans spent several weeks holding their position until they could bring up artillery and open thoroughfare for their attack. HOUSE FEATURES
NIGHT SESSION

Santa Fe County Representative Goes on the Warpath Because of Defeat of His Clay-bank Bill.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL
Santa Fe, March 12.—In the return for the session's opening, the two Spanish educational bills were very much divided by the state board of education. There were S. B. 145, providing for traveling expenses of the state board of education, which passed unanimously, and S. B. 152, giving the state board wider discretion in certification and also appropriates $1,200 in payment for grading the examination papers.

The house also passed S. B. 126, by Mr. Navarro, appropriating $1,500 from the state road fund to protect the town of Mora from flood. The vote was 20 to 15. It also passed senate substitute for S. B. 11, excepting certain peddlers from the license for peddling wood, meats and agricultural products.

Renahan Starts Something.

At this point Mr. Renahan started a filibuster against senate bills because of the defeat of his clay-bank bill.

"Is there any good reason," asked

Mr. Renahan, "why any more senate bills should be passed by this house?"

He was mollified, however, when remarked, "This is the last one." The peddlers' license bill was then passed by a vote of 4 to 2.

The house then concurred in the senate amendment to the following bills: H. B. 292, for game protection;

H. B. 1, the Montoya bill abolishing the road tax; H. B. 231, the firemen's bill; H. B. 65, the Veal auto tax bill. The last named bill passed by a vote of 4 to 1.

Resolution Recalled.

Upon motion of Mr. Mann, H. B. 22, making provision for translating the journals and laws and appropriating $1,000 therefor, was recalled from the governor, so that it might be passed in the form of a bill. The house then took a recess until 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, thus crushing every hope of the prohibitionists for this session.

In the senate, on motion of Mr. Hall, H. B. 15, 294, 305, 357 and 358 were ordered returned to the house for the latter to correct the errors of the compiler.

On the 15th the committee attached to the enrolled and engrossed copies. They are the measures that were passed over the governor's veto.

Bills Passed by Senate.

H. B. 17, by Mr. Blood, providing for the auditing of books of certain school districts, was passed unanimously by the senate.

H. B. 149, by Mr. Skidmore, to amend sections 8 and 11 of the session laws of this session, relating to the shipping of dead bodies by express and railway companies, passed by a vote of 17 to 1.

S. B. 189, by Mr. Pankey, authorizing the sale of municipal light and water plants, was passed unanimously.

H. B. 255, by Mr. Abeyta, amending section 144 of the compiled laws, relating to issuing bonds, passed by a vote of 17 to 1.

S. J. M. 2, inviting the irrigation congress to meet in Albuquerque and providing for the Rio Grande dam celebration, passed unanimously.

The senate adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

AUSTRIA AGREES TO CONCESSIONS TO ITALY

London, March 12.—Authoritative reports recelling to Austria from Berlin seem to indicate that Germany, with a view to securing Italy's neutrality, has induced Austria, despite vigorous opposition by Emperor Francis Joseph, to agree to make territorial concessions to Italy in the event that Germany and Austria are victorious.

It is understood, that although Italy has taken this tentative offer under consideration, no definite agreement has yet been reached. Italy's decision is awaited with anxious concern in all circles here.

Semi-weekly Communication Gives Brief Details of Successes Achieved in Field Near Neuve Chapelle.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE
London, March 12 (8:46 p. m.)—A report of the recent activities of the British army in the field from the headquarters of Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, one of the semi-weekly communications recently arranged for by the government, was given out today by the official information bureau. It is dated March 11, and describes the fighting which led to the capture of Neuve Chapelle, announced yesterday.

"The speaker then at length went into what he claimed were the facts, and related several conversations with the governor and denied that there entered into his mind any idea to offend any insult or disrepute to the executive. He then read the law as it now exists, pointing out that at present the statute does not give the governor exclusive control of the executive mansion. He then continued:

"The governor asked me to come to his office and said to me: 'Brennan, what do you mean by the introduction of that bill?' It looks like a personal attack upon me," said Governor Renahan. "I said: 'Governor, this is a bill I introduced, but I have not seen it.' He said: 'No, I have not seen it, but that is what they tell me about it. I submitted to him that section of the bill providing that the governor shall be free from interference on the part of the custodian or any employee of his, and that part which provides that the governor shall be the sole authority in the executive mansion, and he said: 'Why, I am surprised. I had no idea that was in the bill.'

"He complimented me upon it, and said he recognized that the governor at present was merely a tenant at will, and that this bill was the first one that dedicated the mansion to the uses of the governor forever and the first one that allowed the governor supreme authority within the official residence."

"In conclusion, Mr. Renahan intimated that perhaps a cloak to the real underlying fact that this bill, if passed, would deprive the governor's apprentices of the patronage of appointing commissioners and inspectors. The speaker then concurred in the senate amendment to the following bills: H. B. 292, for game protection;
